TensioReg

TensioReg 100 Box containing 60 or 100 capsules
TensioReg 200 Box containing 60 - 90 or 210 capsules

Complex herbal compound to regularize blood pressure and to improve blood circulation.

Action of TensioReg:

The positive action of TensioReg will be felt within only a few days from the start of the treatment. However, to reach the full regulation of the blood pressure process, it must be understood that TensioReg progressively takes effect by invigorating the vital organs and ensuring their proper functioning allowing for the auto-adjustment of the blood pressure (High / Low blood pressure) without side effects.

In order to be effective, TensioReg makes use of plants that play a role on the blood pressure (increasing or lowering) by exerting various actions (diuretic, vasoconstriction, vasodilatation, cardiac pulsation and rhythm). Those plants also play a regulative role, aiming to balance the cardiac rhythm and hypertensive or anti-hypertensive effects of the various components and aim at improving blood circulation at all levels (coronary, veins, limbs, cerebral).

This approach to the regulation of the blood pressure could be qualified as holistic in the sense that TensioReg acts on the overall body aiming to reach normal values at all levels of the bodily functions.

- Digestive system: Assimilation and elimination of the preparation.
- Circulatory system: Improvement of the blood circulation from coronary, cerebral, and up to capillary vessels. Improvement of vessel resilience and clear lipid accumulations. Insuring a better blood distribution in an optimal available volume of vessel network.
- Urinary system: Improve kidney urinary tract functions.

Instructions:

Take a 200mg capsule of TensioReg with a glass of water in the morning and another at around 5pm, avoid mealtime. In order for the initial treatment to take effect, take two 200mg capsules a day regularly for one to two months. Then for the following two months, one capsule per day should be sufficient. However, you can take another capsule whenever the need arises. The important thing is not to interrupt the treatment during the initial phase.

From the 3rd or 4th month of cure you can switch to the 100mg capsules. One capsule per day should be sufficient however you can take another capsule whenever the need arises. This treatment is on a continuous basis.

The association of a DynOrgan cure at the beginning of the TensioReg treatment is highly recommended as it allows for the evacuation of toxins accumulated in the vital organs. Those toxin residues can be caused by the usage of allopathic medicines and compounds as well as by unhealthy food habits. DynOrgan will also stimulate the liver and kidneys' functions, enabling TensioReg to take effect quickly and efficiently.

IMPORTANT: TensioReg alone should be sufficient to regulate the blood pressure. However, if you take TensioReg while taking other medication to control your blood pressure it is possible that TensioReg will amplify the effect of this medication.

- In case of high blood pressure, there are risks to go to low blood pressure
- In case of low blood pressure, there are risks to go to high blood pressure

It is recommended to carefully monitor this phenomenon, while switching to TensioReg, and to reduce progressively the intake of the synthetic allopathic medication (over a 10 to 20 days period) to the point of totally stopping. In any case, it is highly recommended to consult with your medical doctor if you already use medication to control your blood pressure.

This dosage is conceived for the follow up phase of the initial treatment (from the 3rd to 4th month of cure). It is also destined to the people who are particularly sensitive and react better to lighter dosages. The 100 mg capsules are also conceived for people who do not suffer from an acute blood pressure condition but who still want to benefit from its healthy and preventive properties such as: Increases the resilience of the blood vessel / Improves blood circulation (coronary, veins, limbs, cerebral).
